0-19 Parenting Offer April 2021

Rebuilding Relationships' (RR) - Creating new possibilities using NVR approaches, that defiance, aggression and conflict has taken away'

This is designed to provide parents the opportunity to look at their relationships with their children and to try to restore some balance using NVR principals

The style of the sessions is workshop delivery- the practitioner will deliver the key messages via power-point and there will be some opportunity to discuss how this might be used within individual families, Each session is 1.5 hour and will be delivered face to face in a small group

As this is still part of the NVR offer, referrals will be made via the usual route - i.e a EHA and email to the Parenting inbox. All request will be screened for suitability and if necessary parents will be offered the full course.

This is not a pre requisite for the full course and it is hoped that engagement in this short course will provide sufficient support for some families to make changes.

ALL requests for any NVR support must be made with an updated EHA/SAF and a brief description meeting the NVR criteria via ParentingService@portsmouthcc.gov.uk

Requests must demonstrate what the needs are in the family, how the Child to adult violence or control is being presented and what has already been tried

Children with additional needs

We are no longer offering the Triple P Stepping stones course as part of the parenting offer but practitioners are asked to consider if the current parenting offer will meet the family's needs

Alternatively we can provide you with a Triple P Stepping Stones workbook which you can work through with your family

If you need further advice about the needs of your family then

The CAMHS Learning Disabilities team see children who attend one of the special schools in Portsmouth, namely Mary Rose, Redwood Park, Cliffdale and Willows.
